Balance is the watchword for this wine, reaching across the dynamic tension between the residual fruit sugar and the searing acidity. In the mix are tangy flavors of apple, white melon, lemon and tangerine.

2018 Riesling Estate, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 93Top 100 Best Buys of 2020 Selection

The July heat and August thunderstorms made 2018 a tricky vintage in Ontario, further challenged by heavy rain in October. Yet winemaker Angelo Pavan took advantage of the intervening sunny days to coax a firm, full-bodied Riesling out of Cave Spring's estate vineyard, a parcel that climbs the slope beneath the Niagara Escarpment. The vines – the oldest planted 40 years ago – grow in a stony mix of clay, limestone and sandstone, with some shale, granite and gneiss in the mix; the wine tastes as if their roots literally sucked up the stone, it's so resolutely earthy and firm. Notes of lime zest and sour lemon add a bracing brightness to the austere mineral flavours, while the wine's extract gives it a rich texture and grip. This is a Riesling for the main course – lake trout wrapped in bacon would be ideal.

And we all know Ontario is well known for its icewine. But a less succulent style that's easier on the pocketbook is "Late Harvest." Snap up the brilliant 2017 Cave Spring Indian Summer Select Late Harvest Riesling. The fragrance of stovetop marmalade and orange blossoms is echoed on the palate, then fans out with a sun-drenched peach, honey, praline and touch of cream. Each sip is shot through with racy acidity for optimal balance, so it finishes cleanly and dry. Just such a delightful dessert wine!

2018 Riesling CSV, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 94Guide to Canada's Best Wines 2020 | Top Riesling | Top Value

It is no surprise that the CSV Riesling from Cave Spring took the top position, but it is good to know that there is consistency in this iconic Niagara Riesling resulting from some of the oldest Riesling vines in the country... Another fine vintage for Cave Spring's flagship old vine Riesling, from a vineyard planted in the late 1970s. This wine has grown more textural and layered over the years, with one factor being the transition to spontaneous fermentation, in addition to the ageing vines. Concentration and depth are excellent here; acids ripe-tart, balanced, and the palate comes across as essentially dry despite a pinch of residual sugar. Excellent length. Top notch in the category.

2018 Chardonnay CSV, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 93Guide to Canada's Best Wines 2020 | Top 10 Selection (#9) | Top Value

Here's a very refined, old vine, concentrated and elegant Chardonnay with a well composed and integrated nose of poached pear, vanilla cream, fine spice and toast. It is medium weight, very smooth, creamy and just a touch sweet but not in an egregious way. The focus and length are excellent to outstanding. Great poise within a generous style.

2018 Pinot Noir Estate, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 92Guide to Canada's Best Wines 2020 | Top 20 Selection (#13) | Top Value

Pale-medium garnet-red-orange. This has evolved very favourably since last tasting it earlier this spring. It's showing a complex mix of dried red fruit, cold tea with lemon, old leather, old wood spice, dried flowers and more in an advanced display of evolution, quite complex, if less fruity than before. I like the polished, silky texture on the palate, the greater fruit diversity, the balanced-ripe acids and the long, perfumed finish. Understated, elegant, complex and sophisticated Pinot, all in all, drink or hold 2–4 years – no need nor desire for long-term ageing.

Rich and sensual, highly aromatic and gorgeously textured. Youthful with a firm tannic presence, plenty of freshness but above all, an abundance of perfectly ripe fruit with a soupçon of dried herbal notes. Lingering violets on the finish of great length. Best 2021–2025.

This batch is very fine and elegant with beautiful, tiny, persistent bubbles and a delicate, yeasty, brioche nose with definite hints of Champagne. In addition, expect floral and apple pie aromas with hints of baked lemon and a nice mineral tone. The palate is creamy, rich and firm with a fine balance and very good length. Intense and lingering. Great as an aperitif with pastry nibbles or with a seafood starter.

2017 Riesling Brut, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 91Guide to Canada's Best Wines 2020 | Top 20 Selection (#14) | Top Value

Crunchy, fresh, lemony, gently biscuity, this is one of the more successful traditional method sparkling Rieslings (12 months on lees) from Niagara in my view, with good complexity, and above average length. Lemon-lime-citrus flavours lead in the classic profile, while length and depth, and succulence, are impressive. I'd happily drink this at the price.

2017 Riesling Dry, Niagara Peninsula – 89Top 50 Best Values at the LCBO

This is classic dry Niagara riesling with fragrant aromas of green apple, lime citrus with delicate floral and mineral tones. It is light to midweight with fine firm acidity and nice even flavours of dry apple fruit with just enough sugar (8gm/l) to balance the acidity, while making it feel dry. Very good length. Very classy. Try with raw seafood like oysters or maybe creamy goats cheese.

2018 Riesling CSV, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 92

Old vines anchor this estate-grown reserve wine. It's dry and fruity, riper and with more alcohol than the previous vintage, so more forward and accessible as a result. A mix of citrus fruit and lemon peel highlights fill the palate, with just a faint suggestion of gin-like botanical herbs. It's a fine effort, more suitable for near-term drinking than long-term cellaring.

NV Blanc de Blancs Brut, Beamsville Bench, Estate GrownA Toast to Canadian Sparkling Wines

From one of the pioneering local wineries, which has been making wines since 1973, this is a traditional method sparkling wine, made entirely from the Chardonnay grape. Aged sur lie for at least 36 months, the result is toasty, bready notes on the nose that are well balanced by a fresh apple richness, pear and lemon on the palate. It is a dry-style wine, refined and elegant with good mineral notes, which is definitely worth its price.

From Cave Spring Vineyard, this bright and zesty Riesling from the Niagara Escarpment wine region is racy with ripe pear, peach and fresh-cut green apple aromas on the nose with bright apple, white-fleshed stone fruit, lemon zest, flinty and nutty flavours finishing long on the palate. Produced from some of Cave Spring's oldest vines.

2018 Chardonnay CSV, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 92

This rewarding Chardonnay comes from a well-established vineyard on Niagara's Beamsville Bench, with an average vine age of 45 years, which naturally produce lower yields of grapes, resulting in more concentrated and complex wines. A mix of tank- and barrel-fermented wines, this is an appealingly fresh, ripe and rich style of Chardonnay with toast and cream notes that contribute complexity to the mix of fresh and juicy fruit flavours. Drink now to 2028.

2019 Rosé Estate, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 90

A new addition to the Cave Spring portfolio, this premium rosé is made from 100-per-cent Cabernet Franc from a single block of the Cave Spring Vineyard in Beamsville. It was barrel-fermented and aged in older barrels for added weight and complexity, but without any additional vanilla or toasted oak notes. The result is an attractive pink wine with a core of berry, watermelon and spice notes, and a clean refreshing finish. Drink now to 2022.

Produced from vines approaching 45 years of age, this reserve-level effort is simply extraordinary. L'actualité

2017 Riesling Dry, Niagara PeninsulaLe vin de la semaine: un riesling de Niagara

D'un océan à l'autre, les déplacements demeurent limités. Et si on en profitait, à la veille des vacances d'été, pour explorer le Canada à travers ses vins?

Les vins du domaine de la famille Pennachetti ont beaucoup contribué à forger l'identité du vignoble de Niagara. Dès les années 1970, alors que plusieurs de leurs collègues vignerons jugeaient le climat de la région trop froid pour la culture des cépages vinifera, Len Pennachetti, son père et son grand-père ont introduit les premières vignes de riesling et de chardonnay dans la péninsule. Sur une douce pente protégée par l'escarpement de Niagara, une longue falaise née du retrait des mêmes glaciers qui ont façonné les fameuses chutes du Niagara, ces variétés venues d'Europe non seulement ont survécu, mais elles sont devenues des références de la viticulture canadienne, tant ici qu'à l'étranger. Aujourd'hui, le riesling couvre plus de la moitié du vignoble de Cave Spring. Cette cuvée nouvellement arrivée à la SAQ, composée en majeure partie de raisins du secteur de Lincoln Lakeshore, est un brillant exemple de riesling sec. Un joli nez de melon, de thé vert et de pomme verte traduit les effets d'un millésime plutôt frais et humide. La bouche est tout aussi expressive, parfumée et riche en nuances; le sucre résiduel (8,2 g/L) est en parfait équilibre avec l'acidité et le vin paraît tout à fait sec. Frais, tendu, salin, doté d'une agréable amertume et d'une finale étonnamment ample compte tenu de sa légèreté alcoolique à 11,5 %. Si frais et si sapide que le contenu de la bouteille descend à vue d'oeil.

2018 Cabernet Franc Estate, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown— 93

Fragrant and complex, Cave Spring's 2018 Cabernet Franc is still very youthful and tightly wound, with wood yet to fully integrate. The palate shows substantial depth and concentration, and excellent acid-tannin structure, ensuring a long life ahead and eventual harmony. The fruit is pristine and the quality of the oak high – a premium bottling to be sure, with great balance and freshness in the cool climate style. Best after 2022.

2017 Cabernet Franc, Niagara Peninsula – 89

After years of research and development, Cave Spring has settled on Cabernet Franc as its signature red wine variety in Niagara. The winery produces four versions from each vintage, with this expressive entry-level label representing the largest production at more than 2,000 cases. Grapes sourced from vineyards located close to Lake Ontario are selected to yield a ripe and fragrant red wine style. The resulting mix of ripe red berry, herbal and earthy notes captures the charm of well-made Cabernet Franc and makes for a fresh and elegant red wine that's ready to drink. Drink now to 2024. New Wine Wonders Emerge as Growers Conquer More Challenging Climatic Conditions

2017 Cabernet Franc, Niagara Peninsula

Upon retiring from his masonry job, Italian immigrant Giuseppe Pennachetti decided to return to his homeland hobby of winemaking. He shared this passion with his family, who eventually planted European vines on Niagara's Beamsville Bench and became wine-industry pioneers in this region with their vineyards just a few miles away from the moderating effects of Lake Ontario. Natural springs below help keep the vines hydrated... This 100 percent varietal Cave Spring Cabernet Franc is bright cherry red with scarlet highlights. The nose is an enticing blend of aromas – first smoked tea leaves and tobacco, next yielding to dark cherry and raspberry, and finally revealing nuances of mint with a hint of cocoa. The mint and cocoa repeat on the palate, where the raspberry notes evolve into a rich cassis. Tannins announce themselves on the finish, firm but more than amenable after a touch of aeration. This is everything a New World cabernet franc should be.

Éloge du Riesling

CHRONIQUE | Si le mot riesling évoque encore pour vous des souvenirs désagréables de vins allemands de masse, médiocres et trop sucrés, il est temps de faire progresser et triper vos papilles en découvrant la grande diversité aromatique que ce cépage noble peut offrir.

2017 Riesling Dry, Niagara Peninsula

La famille Pennachetti fut une des premières de la région à planter du riesling dans les années 70 et à le vinifier avec un savoir-faire qui s'étend maintenant sur trois générations. Les couches de calcaire argileux du terroir de Beamsville donnent un caractère minéral qui se détecte dès les premiers arômes et se décline en bouche sur des notes de citron et d'abricots avec une bonne complexité en finale.

After the Gold Rush

Canadian Producers are ushering in a new era of quality north of the border.

Cave Spring Cellars, an early proponent of vinifera, planted Riesling obtained through Hermann Weis of St. Urbans-Hof in Germany's Mosel Valley as early as 1978. Its Riesling Icewine Lincoln Lakeshore (93, $60/375ml) is one of the highest-scoring wines of this report. The 2017 vintage was challenging, with a cool and wet spring and summer, yet ideal conditions in the fall benefited the late-ripening Riesling. "Because Lake Ontario is so deep and temperate, it tends to allow for Riesling, our grape of choice for making icewine, to ripen gradually and completely," explains Cave Spring managing partner Tom Pennachetti, who serves as vice-president of marketing and sales. "By cooling the vineyards throughout the growing season at the lakeshore sites where we grow our Riesling for this wine, the lake prevents overripening in the late season," Pennachetti continues. "This allows the clusters to survive the [regular] harvest window and endure intact, if desiccated, through the freeze-thaw cycles of late-November and early December."

So, this week I turned my column over to a few local sommeliers and asked them to share their favourite wines at the LCBO... Here's what they came back with... First up was director of wine Myles Harrison at Louix Louis of The St. Regis hotel. His selection under $20 is Cave Spring Riesling Dry from Niagara. It also has something to offer mid-palate, which I appreciate – especially at that price."

2017 Riesling Estate, Beamsville Bench, Estate Grown – 922020 Annual Buying Guide Selection

Cave Spring's old vines and sheltered position at the base of the Niagara Escarpment contributed to the success of this Riesling, a robust, firm wine from a cool, wet vintage. While the flavours are delicate – lime zest and pink grapefruit with a sparkly minerality – the texture makes it mouth filling. It has a pithy grip that suggest this would stand up well to meaty fish dishes; it should age well too.

2017 Cabernet Franc, Niagara Peninsula – 91

This retains an elegant line despite the meatiness of its dark, spicy fruit and roasted red pepper flavours. It's also floral and mineral, with pencil-lead scents and fine-grit tannins that will hold their own with a steak.

THE GLOBE AND MAIL 2018 Pinot Gris, Niagara Peninsula – 90

This counts as one of the most surprising wines I've tasted this year. Pinot Gris isn't a grape you'd closely associate with Riesling specialist Cave Spring. It isn't a variety that usually rises to such heights in Ontario. But here is a stellar expression that offers spiced apple flavours with an enjoyable honeyed character and appealing texture. The price makes it even more attractive.

explore all things wineCave Spring Riesling CSV Vertical, 1999–2016

Today, after over 30 years in the business, much-acclaimed Cave Spring Cellars produces world-class wines from the likes of Riesling, Pinot Noir and Cabernet Franc. And one wine in particular, the Cave Spring Vineyard Riesling, ranks with the world’s best in its category... A portion of the CSV’s vines are among the oldest vinifera vines in Canada, planted in 1975 and 1978. Only 5% or so of the vineyard’s best grapes are used to make the estate’s CSV wines... Pavan chooses to press his grapes softly with an overnight skin contact; he ferments at 16–18°C, and the fermentation can last anywhere from three to six weeks, depending on the vintage. Pavan has been using indigenous yeasts for the past eight years or so to make the CSV Riesling (by contrast, the more entry-level Rieslings of the Peninsula and Escarpment lines have been made with large portions of indigenous ferments only since the 2015 vintage). Fermentation takes place in stainless steel tanks, and the wine spends roughly five months on the fine lees prior to bottling. Until recently, Pavan has aged the wine in stainless steel, but he has begun experimenting with large oak barrels (such as old 500-liter puncheons); as of the last five vintages, about 20% of the total wine blend is aged in wood... the CSV Riesling often showcases notes of fresh citrus (especially lime and pink grapefruit) and yellow plum; in warmer vintages, more exotic fruit notes dominate. With age the wines develop a very recognizable note of licorice or anise. Cool-year wines are especially juicy and vibrant, and though a steely mineral, flinty undertone is always present, outright diesel fuel nuances are more apparent in warmer vintages (such as 2002 and 2007).

They come from all around the world, from Napa Valley and New York State to the Andes and remote corners of northwest Spain...

Cave Spring Cellars, Ontario

The Pennachetti family's range of savory, mineral wines has established Ontario as a major player in cool-climate viticulture. When Len Pennachetti helped his father and grandfather make wine, it was from vitis labrusca grapes: In the 1970s, most people believed Ontario was too cold to support vinifera varieties. The Pennachettis proved this untrue when, in 1973, they bought a vineyard at Cave Spring, a gentle slope protected by the Niagara Escarpment, a tall cliff left behind by the glaciers that formed Niagara Falls. They planted some of the region's first Riesling and Chardonnay, eventually growing the estate to 151 acres, with another 28 under long-term lease; fully half of the plantings are Riesling. And it's not all ice wine, the regions most famed wine: By fine-tuning details like planting densities, leaf thinning and vineyard drainage, the Cave Spring team puts out nine iterations of Riesling, most of them dry, each showcasing a different aspect of the region's varied terroir.
